2013 AMERICORPS GRANT FUNDING CALL FOR PEER REVIEWERS

Deadline to Apply: March 29, 2013

Purpose

AmeriCorps is a network of national service programs that engage more than 75,000 Americans each year in intensive full-time and part-time service commitments in exchange for a modest living stipend and an educational benefit. AmeriCorps members serve through more than 2,100 nonprofits, public agencies, and faith-based organizations. They tutor and mentor youth, build affordable housing, teach computer skills, clean parks and streams, run after-school programs, and help communities respond to disasters. AmeriCorps funds are awarded to local, state, and national organizations through annual competitive and formula grant-making processes.

The Governor's Office on Service and Volunteerism (GOSV) seeks applicants to serve on a review panel to assess grant applications for the 2013 – 2014 AmeriCorps program funds. The panel will review applications submitted in response to a Notice of Funds Available from the federal Corporation for National and Community Service. The funds awarded as a result of this grant application process will support AmeriCorps programs and member service across Maryland.

The GOSV is committed to ensuring a standardized, fair, and open process for awarding grants. A combination of internal and external grant reviewers will evaluate the extent to which submitted proposals meet published criteria. Peer review ratings will be used by the Governor's Commission on Service and Volunteerism to complete the Maryland grant selection process in June 2013.

Benefits for the Reviewer

Participating in an AmeriCorps grant review is an excellent professional development opportunity and chance to provide a vital volunteer service. Reviewers will have an opportunity to learn about Maryland's existing AmeriCorps program network and help the Governor's Office on Service and Volunteerism determine how best to maximize this valuable resource for all of Maryland's communities. They will sharpen their own grant-writing skills, work with the dedicated GOSV staff to learn the AmeriCorps grant and program requirements, and work with a review team to score individual applications.

Qualifications

The GOSV seeks a diverse group of reviewers who can thoroughly and quickly assess the quality of grant applications, and who possess expertise in programming that addresses critical individual and community needs in the areas of education, public safety, human needs, and/or the environment. Reviewers must be able to complete all of the requirements listed below. They must be able to read a large volume of material in a defined period of time, provide in-depth individual analysis, and participate in small group discussions.

Reviewers are practitioners, educators, administrators/managers, evaluators, etc. Some of the places reviewers work or volunteer are: community or faith-based nonprofits, community or national foundations, government agencies, schools, and colleges and universities. Anyone submitting a 2013 AmeriCorps grant to the GOSV is ineligible to serve as a peer reviewer. Reviewers will be asked to disclose any potential conflicts of interest with grant applicants prior to the review.

Mandatory Participation Commitments

Peer reviewers must attend an orientation at the GOSV, review all grant application instructions, read and score up to four grant applications, and attend a consensus review meeting. The dates and times are detailed below. On average, it will take one hour to review the application instructions and 90 minutes to review each application.
